Chapter 1 Materials Around Us

1.1 What are materials?

Objects around us are made from different materials. A material has properties that help us decide how it can be used in everyday life.

1.2 Grouping materials

We can group materials by comparing their observable properties. A useful group makes it easier to describe and select materials for a particular purpose.